

1. What is the primary function of a compiler?

- A. To translate source code into machine code.
- B. To interpret the source code directly.
- C. To debug the source code.
- D. To optimize the source code for performance.

Answer Key

1. A